Unit Eleven - blasting its way onto screens on April 27th, 2019.

Classic cinema meets high octane contemporary action. Local Sheffield-based independent film maker, Theo Cane Garvey, is set to screen his new feature film, Unit Eleven, for cast, crew and press, this April.

The much anticipated film is a tour-de-force of gritty, self-financed cinema, and is a TRULY independent feature film - over 10 years in the making!

Unit Eleven contains action packed fight scenes, martial arts, high concept drama, out of this world explosives, and innovative special effects.

Filmed entirely in the UK at a variety of spectacular locations, Sheffield independent filmmaker Theo Cane Garvey continues to deliver incredible films using modest budgets and spectacular outcomes.

Theo has written, directed, produced and edited the film himself and after years of creating his project, the independent film scene is about to get a demonstration in action cinema.

Featuring celebrities like Larry Kenny (Thundercats, Red Dead Redemption), Mark Grist (Poet, battle rapper), underground and local musical artists, and with a poster designed by 2000AD / Judge Dredd legend Greg Staples, this action packed film is an explosive mix of well-choreographed fight scenes, intense and heart wrenching story lines and feel good camaraderie when there is nothing left but despair.

Unit Eleven is set to be premiered in New York later this year, but the Sheffield local, Theo, wanted his first press viewing to be in his hometown!

Theo Cane Garvey is an independent film army. He writes, produces, directs, edits, scores and even acts in Unit Eleven. Completely self-taught after a start in the film industry as a makeup FX artist, he has since gone on to work in Independent Cinema collaborations around the world. This film has been a passion project for over 10 years!

Unit Eleven film marks a departure for Theo, by taking the viewer on a journey, switching between emotional highs and classic, mind-blowing action and stunts. The real significant achievement of the film, is the way it harnesses Theo's unique ability to create riveting, must see action, combined with stories of human challenges, all on a tiny budget... without compromise!

His remarkable film captures everything that is unique about this rapidly emerging Director, drawing obvious parallels with the likes of Robert Rodriguez, staying true to his roots and refusing to compromise his creative ethics.

The director, producer, actor, editor....
Theo Cane Garvey - a one man army

His drive, determination, and on-screen charisma is set to excite the viewers in this new soon-to-be Sheffield classic. Life in the future up north, never looked so gritty and explosive as it does in Unit Eleven.
