About: Writing Space is a scripted web series created by emerging talents Dan Doolan and Chris Billingham. This comedy series follows two struggling writers who are being filmed for a documentary series that aims to take a closer look at writing processes and the procrastination, ill-conceived ideas and friendship this procedure demands.

Background: Dan and Chris created 'Writing Space' around their own experiences of writing a number of projects together. The pair first met at Bournemouth University where they studied 'Scriptwriting for Film and Television'. Their writing CV includes productions for the Edinburgh Fringe Festival, scripts for shorts produced by Brian Timoney Actors' Studio, plays performed in a Berkshire based theatre and stand-up comedy material.
